

Dedication

To those who love their Cavaliers and all dog lovers around the world.

“Over here! Over here!” Stewie raced toward the chair, ready to catch the ball.

Like usual, the other puppies ignored him.

Stewie watched the puppies race around the chairs, under the tables, over the ottomans, and behind the drapes. The ball kept bouncing and rolling. Winston finally grabbed it in his mouth. Then POP. The ball flew high in the air.

It was heading right toward Stewie.

Stewie figured if he caught it, for sure they’d let him play. “I got it! I got it!”

“Okay, got them,” yelled the dog catcher to the driver.
“We have one more pickup at Piccadil Park. Let’s go.”

Stewie bounced up and down and side to side on the ride to the park. When the van stopped, he watched as the dogcatcher jumped off the truck and snuck up on a big dirty cat.

SWOOP! MEOW!

“Got her! We can go back to the pound,” he yelled.

Stewie pressed against the crate door. “Hey, it’s loose.” He pushed and pushed and the door sprung open. Stewie leapt out of the truck and ran for his life. The dogcatcher threw the cat in the truck, but didn’t notice Stewie was missing.

“We sure are!” said Chloe.

She gave Stewie a GIGANTIC kiss on his cheek.

My sincere appreciation goes to:

Jan Stitzel of Digital Dreamer Photography, for all her artwork in this book, which she so cleverly created from her photographs. She also has my gratitude for the beautiful layout work combining the artwork with the text.

It is the intention of this author to encourage responsible ownership of your Cavalier King Charles Spaniel. Your pet will be dependent upon you for its lifetime.

If you are interested in acquiring a Cavalier, or any dog, I suggest that you locate an ethical breeder who sells dogs in good health and of good quality.
